

About our 5-Day Tour Guide

For awhile now people have been asking for some sort of user guide to help them easily teach their children about all of these wonderful and talented people that we showcase at Enrichment Studies, and it took me some time to finally have a vision for how to provide this in a way that made sense.

What I've done gives you the tools to very simply give your children an organized overview of each person without it taking up a bunch of your time and energy. (Pretty much like everything else here. I wanted this to be super simple and do-able for you!)

Basically, when you're ready to study a particular person, sign up for our 5-Day Tour Guide emails. You'll get the first one immediately, and the next few will come one per day, early in the morning (if you are in the U.S.), for the next 4 days.

Each email is designed to be able to be shared with your kids in about 5-10 minutes. You'll have a little bit of an introduction, at least one video to watch (just click the video and you'll pop over to youtube to watch), plus I'll share any coordinating resources, and mention other related items on your member page that you may want.

So, if you only want to read for a minute and then share the videos, you can do that with zero prep time and take only a couple minutes. Boom! Done. Wasn't that easy? Seriously—you can set the kids up with this while you run to the bathroom, or let them watch on your phone or ipad while they eat lunch.

This is going to make it so, so easy for you to get started sharing these great resources with your kids. Remember: it doesn't have to be perfect. It doesn't have to be comprehensive. What we're aiming for is sharing something interesting, beautiful, or inspirational, to give them a greater awareness of these people and what they contributed to the world.

If you want to expand on what we've got in the 5-Day Tour Guide, you can certainly do that. Often there are additional lesson plans, ebooks, and educational resources that you can tie in, so digging deeper is totally do-able within this framework as well.

If you have any questions or comments for me, or find that something in the email doesn't work, simply Reply to the email and it'll come straight to my inbox. You can even email me back with comments from your children about the things they watched and learned that day. (What a great way to get them putting their thoughts into the written word!)
